

on the market

The latest products in aesthetic medicine

1. IS Clinical have combined their "hero" skin essentials to present the new Ultimate Skin Prep Kit, said to optimise skin health and maximise aesthetic treatment results. The kit has been created for use in conjunction with face lifts and injectable treatments. Director Alana-Marie Chambers says "the new skin prep kit is designed to enable doctors to initiate treatment from as early as the consultation process", allowing patients to "leave with the tools to start optimising their skin and preparing it for the treatment prescribed."

IS Clinical, W: isclinical.co.uk

4. Cambridge Medical Aesthetics has announced the release of its lidocaine containing hyaluronic acid based dermal filler, Uma Jeunesse Ultra.

Uma Jeunesse Ultra is a global action product, designed to help correct medium to deep lines, lip augmentation, cheek and nose augmentation. Uma Jeunesse Ultra contains traces of lidocaine to help relieve pain during treatment and contribute to patient comfort and safety. Most patients do not require any extra anaesthesia, say Cambridge Medical Aesthetics.

Uma Jeunesse Ultra is CE marked and is being released for global sales in the first week of December 2014.

Cambridge Medical Aesthetics, W: umajeunesse.co.uk

3. Adoderm have launched a new generation of HYABELL dermal fillers, with pre-incorporated lidocaine (0.3%) to help reduce pain on injection. Adoderm say results of the filler for various indications in the dermis and subcutis is natural looking and long lasting, and HYABELL offers great elasticity and viscosity for ease of injection and optimal flow capability. Results of 12-month implantation tests demonstrated that HYABELL had a high tolerance and biocompatibility profile.

Adoderm, W: adoderm.com

2. Episciences Europe introduce their new Epionce Lytic Sport Tx, designed to help treat skin imperfections and improve the skin's texture and tone for the more active lifestyle. The light-weight formula has been created specifically to treat very oily, problem adult and teenage skin by eliminating blackheads, whiteheads, pustules and inflamed blemishes, say Epionce.

Key benefits include a maximum strength, light-weight formula that helps treat acne, inflammatory conditions, and scaly skin diseases, leading to smoother skin contour and reduced pore and scar appearance. Epionce say there is also improvement in reduction of redness, irritation and scaly growths and the product helps to regulate excess oil production and eliminate injurious bacteria.

Episciences Europe, W: epionce.co.uk

5. EVENSWISS is a professional cosmeceutical line, consisting of 10 selected products, all of which contain the patented Dermatopietin peptide complex.

Dermatopietin is said to affect deep skin structures without penetrating skin by triggering a cascade of reactions which propagates from the surface to the depth of skin, and promotes the production of collagen, elastin and several growth factors which supports the skin's natural renewal process. EVENSWISS say the range has been developed for specific skin problems and beauty needs and their blend of active ingredients helps to promote the natural regenerative process of skin to restore its youthful texture and appearance.

EVENSWISS, W: evenswiss.ch

